

Do you come across the following issues raising children?

No matter what you say to them, children love to say "No!"?

They become angry easily?

Children are crying and vexatious for no apparent reason?

Children love watching TV and playing iPad, sometimes they will sit in front of the television for a long time?

They do not clean up, and the play area is often messy?

If so, then please be assured that these scenarios are not unique to your family!

They are happening every day all the time on the global scale.
